

Selenium Error

Table of Contents

Problem.....	1
Requirement.....	1

Problem

The problem with the code (look at other file) is to do with the function that starts on line 153. Inside this function is the only place where I use Selenium. Selenium is used in order to move between the different pages on the website, without being detected by the bots. If there were no detection, I could have simply used the for loop that I have on line 44.

The big function starting on line 79 works well, so there is no problem with it. I can get all the pages and all the information I desire.

The part that is wrong is that I can't get the function on line 153 working due to lack of Selenium experience. The function works, it opens Chrome, navigates to the correct page, moves to page 2 and after that it stops. Therefore, I have done something wrong inside this function.

Requirement

My requirement is to solve this problem in the function and give an explanation on what was wrong with the function.